

Statement of Interest

Jianwei Wang

I am writing to express my interest in serving as an At-Large Member within the Washington State Bar Association. As the founding attorney of Alight Law P.C., a solo practice focused on cross-border business law, I bring a unique combination of global legal experience, hands-on firm management, and a strong commitment to public service. I would be honored to contribute my perspective and energy to the work of the Bar's sections.

Over the past decade, I have advised clients on corporate governance, real estate transactions, employment compliance, and immigration matters, often involving international jurisdictions. My background includes in-house roles at multinational companies, where I led legal teams and developed compliance systems across North America, Asia, the Middle East, and Europe. These experiences have shaped my understanding of the legal profession as increasingly interconnected and dynamic.

In building my own practice, I've developed a deep appreciation for the challenges and opportunities that solo and small firm attorneys face—from business development to legal tech adoption, from client service to community engagement. I also regularly work with startup founders, investors, and international companies navigating cross-border legal issues, which keeps me closely attuned to the evolving landscape of business law.

Beyond client work, I remain active in pro bono service through organizations such as the King County Bar Association, Legal Services of Los Angeles County, and the Asian Law Alliance. I believe our profession has a shared responsibility to expand access to justice and foster a more inclusive legal community.

If selected, I hope to contribute meaningfully to the Section's goals through thoughtful programming, peer support, and community-building. I bring to the table a bicultural perspective, a collaborative mindset, and a commitment to serving others through law. Thank you for considering my candidacy.
